Company History

R&B Communications was formed in 2001 in Nevada City, California by a group of technologists that wanted to make a meaningful impact on the world of technology. Getting connected electronically to do business better, faster and more cost-effectively was at the tip of every tongue and in every business magazine when R&B Communications set out to take the mystery out of technology and to help make it the great equalizer.

Differentiators

Military Marketplace Experience – R&B has developed two of the world’s largest online systems in use for our military members – AHRN.com and SargesList.com. We understand the military online user and their unique needs and requirements. We have developed systems tailored not only for the military member but also for the military spouse and the military family that may be relocating every year. We have developed a deep understanding of the real estate and classifieds market verticals as they relate to the military marketplace.

Turnkey Offering – R&B is a small business that still retains all product and service capabilities. We design, develop, deploy and support systems for our clients. R&B does not exit when the system goes live – we remain to support the client and ensure the ongoing successful operation – whether it be staffing the Help Desk or maintaining a 99.99% SLA up time commitment!

Past Performance

Automated Housing Referral Network: In 2004, in partnership with Runzheimer International, R&B Communications team architected and helped launch the Automated Housing Referral Network (AHRN.com) for the Department of Defense (DoD). Today we remain the technical partner for development, hosting, and system support for the world’s leading housing site for the US Military.

SargesList: SargesList is the “Craigslist” of the military community! We provide a free worldwide classifieds site with coverage of nearly 400 U.S. military bases around the globe. In 2013, we partnered with Gannet Government Media to produce the new Military Times Classifieds (militarytimes.com/classifieds), a co-branded online portal providing free, trusted classifieds for the United States military community.

California Department of Parks and Recreation: In 2015, for the Cal Parks website, R&B implemented a turn-key fulfillment capability for California State Park passes. This included designing a page with customer registration and authentication capabilities, shopping cart and payment options, and fulfillment reporting for Cal Parks. This project was developed and deployed within 45 days.
